Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

Listening Tuesday evening to the President's voice over the radio in another appeal for popular support for his plan to make over the United States Supreme Court, we were impressed by two aspects of the talk: A studied avoidance of his usual dramatics, and a continued deft use of the tar brush. According to press dispatches he carefully had gone over this address to make it so simple that the man in the street could understand it. But the President's addresses are always easy to understand. All public speakers have this gift in less or greater degree. Unless they are able to make the common man understand, their message remains to all practical purposes undelivered.

While the President again declared in effect that only the economic and political groups were opposing his Supreme Court plan that opposed him in the last election, anyone who reads the newspapers knows that that is not true.

The fact is that Senator Norris of Nebraska, Senator Bailey of North Carolina, and Senator Wheeler of Montana, are the head and shoulders a movement in the Democratic Party to defeat this revamping plan. Senator Norris, nominally an Independent, to all practically purposes, for the last twelve years has been a Democrat, and latterly a New Dealer. Senator Hiram Johnson, a Republican, has supported practically all of the New Deal legislation, except this Supreme Court plan. The President did in his address seek to make a distinction between those who honestly opposed the plan, for disinterested and patriotic motives, and those who feared it, because of what they had to lose. But to the listener, the man in the street, it would be hard to tell where the tar brush merged into snowy whiteness of exoneration. The line of demarcation was not clear.

Though he cleverly quoted from dissenting opinions of the Supreme Court judges themselves, though he again called upon the people to renew their faith in his good intentions, and appealed to the American characteristic demand for action, now, one thing the President did not answer, which seems to us unanswerable. That was the argument of Senator Norris, who declared in effect, that he opposed the plan of adding six new justices to the Supreme Court, because if Roosevelt was permitted to establish this precedent, other Presidents in the course of years might add to the number of judges, until it became, bigger than Congress itself. Of coudse this was an exaggeration for the purpose of emphasis. But suppose one of the DuPonts, during some great national crisis, brought on perhaps by unbearable taxation, should be chosen President.

Suppose the New Deal judges, appointed by Roosevelt stood in the way of drastic reactionary legislation. Then with this precedent to support him he might, with a subservient (rubber stamp) Congress, name to the court enough reactionary judges to put through his reactionary legislation. The President refuses to take the long view.

Along in 1926, 1927, a great deal of printers ink was splashed by columnists and cartoonists depicting Old Man High Cost of living. For several years this old gentleman disappeard from circulation. But he is back with us again, not as robust as he once was, but still easy to recognize. In fact a little analysis will show that this ancient trouble maker is at the bottom of most of the strikes now taking place. A dollar is only worth what it will buy and when its purchasing power drops, there is instantly a demand for more dollars.

Back in 1931, 1932 and 1933 we were caught in the downward spiral of depression, now the motion has been reversed and we are lifted in the upward spiral of inflation. The New Deal hates that dreadful word, but inflation is exactly what it is. The reason for the hatred of the word inflation, and for the fact of inflation, is merely this, that inflation always preceeds a crash. It would be a pity after spending some fifteen billions to lift us out of the depression, if, before that unthinkable sum could be repaid to the people who loaned it, we should take another header in the abysmal depths of another depression. The President himself alluded to that danger in his Tuesday evening address.

COURT OF HONOR MEETS TONIGHT

Nevada City Boy Scouts will hold a Court of Honor this evening in Seaman's lodge in Pioneer Park with Judge Raglan Tuttle presiding. Both Grass Valley and Nevada City Scouts will receive all honors planned for this meeting. Both groups are also leaving Saturday morning to spend the week end at Camp Pahatsi.

MAN SUFFERS STROKE AT RIVERS EDGE

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen called Alvah Hooper, of the Holmes Funeral Home of Nevada City and the ambulance at an early hour yesterday morning to go to the South Yuba river on the Downieville highway to bring out John Lawrence, an Indian who had suffered a stroke down at the water's edge.

Lawrence owns a small mining claim about 400 or 500 yards above the Yuba river bridge. He lives at the Indian Campoodie west of Nevada City and when he failed to return home his friends became alarmed and went to search for him, and found him helpless, his whole left side being paralyzed. The sheriff was notified and left immediately to bring him out. It was a terrific effort for the four men to carry the injured man out over big rocks and up steep banks to the roadway. He was taken to the county hospital and is resting as comfortably as can be expected.

CHAMBER TO ELECT OFFICERS MARCH 29

The next meeting of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, it was announced yesterday by the president, Fred E. Conner, will take place Monday evening, March 29. This will be an important meeting, since new officers are to be elected, and there are several matters that must be discussed before turning the chamber over to the new officers.

HYDRAULIC MINERS TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

The California Hydraulic Miners association will meet tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon in the National Hotel at 2 o'clock. This meeting is of utmost importance to the mining industry and all those interested in it are cordially invited to attend.

EMPIRE STAR WILL APPEAL COURT DECISION

It is understood that the Empire Star Mining company will appeal the decision made in the suit against the Bullion. This was an apex case in which the Bullion was given the decision by Federal Judge St. Sure.

When all is said and done, it would seem as if we were witnessing in the national administration, one of the characteristic and typical mistakes so often made in private American life. "From shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves" in one, or two generations, is a favorite saying. The father rolling up his shirt sleeves builds a fortune. The son dissipates it, and returns to shirt sleeves. The speculator overstays his market. The industrialist overplays his hand. In good years the farmer mortgages his property and buys more land, and in due time loses all. Many a man has built, one, two, or three fortunes, and then has been interred in the potters field.

Granting that the expenditure of vast sums of the peoples money by the New Deal has brought us out of the depression, even though many an economist will declare that we survived other depressions without the tremendous cost, the question arises: is there anyone at the wheel of national affairs who knows when to put on the brakes. Six governors go to the White House and demand that in their states there shall be no cut in WPA funds. From all over the land comes the cry to continue the benefactions of the New Deal. Is there any human being, given the powers that reside in the White House, who could summon the courage to turn a deaf ear to this outcry? And so we come to the crest of the hill and plunge over the other side, with never a foot on the brake.

CAT SPITS WHEN BAD TOOTH IS EXTRACTED

Bill Williamson, owner of the service station at the corner of Pine and Spring streets, and his yellow cat, "Gilmore" created much interest Tuesday when he developed a badly ulcerated tooth.

"Gilmore" came to the service station a year ago in an emaciated condition and made friends immediately. Soon the cat followed Bill like a dog, being present for car greasing, changing tires, in fact at all activities about the place until the became a mascot.

U. H. Stewart veternarian was summoned and with a special equipment designed for cat anatomy, and fine forceps he grappled with the tooth and removed it. The cat did a lot of spitting after the operation.

'SEVENTEEN' TO BE PRESENTED BY HI THESPIANS

The Class of '37, N. C. H. S. will present Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen" at the Nevada Theatre on Tuesday afternoon and evening, March 16. Tickets are now on sale and may be exchanged for reserved seats at Foley's confectionery.

The play is one of the summer time and love and youth at the important age of seventeen. William Sylvanus Baxter is in the throes of young love, of deep consciousness of his dignity, and of distress that his family are not aware of it.

A brat sister, an unsympathetic father, and a fickle sweetheart play havoc with his tender sensibilities, which only his mother can understand.

Booth Tarkington's penetrating insight into the ways of youth is a guarantee of the appeal of this play to any audience, and the cast are well fitted to give a strikingly life-life representation of their roles.

TRANSAMERICA PROFITS IN 1936 ARE $25,016,200

Consolidated net profit of Transamerica Corporation, controlling the Giannini enterprises on the Pacific Coast, totaled $25,016,200 in 1936. as compared with $20,319,276 in 1935, a gain of 23 per cent, according to the corporation's audited annual report made public today. SELF DEFENSE MAY BE PLEADED FOR BOY SLAYER

District Attorney Vernon Stoll and Sheriff Carl Tobiassen on Wednesday heard 13-year-old Buddy Munchauser repeat his story of the shooting and killing of Oscar E. Jacks, Sunday evening, February 21. This is the same story he told last Monday to George E. Carter, former sheriff and Ward Sheldon, attorney for Mrs. Munchauser, mother of the boy under indictment for the murder. Self defense may be pleaded for the boy.

Though the murder occurred Sunday evening, no arrests were made until Tuesday following the inquest at which the jury decided that murder, and not suicide had been done. Then Mrs. Munchauser was arrested. In the meantime she had had ample opportunity to drill her children in the suicide story. She stuck by the story even after the grand jury had indicted her for murder.

The facts as they have been developed by Carter, employed as an investigator by Attorney Sheldon and Mrs. Munchauser, his client, seems to have been sustained by such evidence as has been gathered.

Sunday afternoon of the shooting Jacks returned drunk to the cabin in Dead Man's Flat where he had been living as the common law spouse of Mrs. Munchauser. A quarrel between himself and Mrs. Munchauser took place in which he knocked her down, blackening one eye which was in evidence when she was finally arrested. According to Buddy Munchauser, he beat the boy and hurled him out the door and threatened to kill the whole family. The boy rushed down the car and took from it the 38-55 rifle, known to be there, ran back of the house and climbed a short ladder to the roof. Jacks went out the front door as the boy was climbing the roof, at the back of the house, if this story is true, reached into the car and got hold of the jack, and had turned toward the house. The boy accustomed to fire arms fired and the bullet tore through his heart killing him instantly.

The little girl, nine years old, subnormal according to all accounts, tried to rouse her mother from the stupor caused by the blow Jacks had given her, and tried to raise her to her feet. Gail said: "Buddy has shot Mr. Jacks." The mother now thoroughly aroused to the danger to Buddy decided upon the suicide story and drilled the children in it.

While in jail, however, she asked her attorney what would happen to a boy, Buddy's age, if he had committed a murder. Following this tip, Sheldon and Carter examined the two boys, Buddy and a younger brother Monday, and after recovering from fright, both, examined separately, told the same story.

Meantime Mrs. Munchauser remains in jail under indictment of murder until the authorities are satisfied that the boy's story is true. If the boy is brought before the court in a juvenile hearing, it is probable that a plea of self defense will be made.

Francis Jacks, son of Mrs. Munchauser by a former marriage, has come from Oregon where he is employed as a plasterer. He hopes to take his mother and her family to some other locality where better conditions may be obtained for herself and her children.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL AT CAMPTONVILLE OPENS

CAMPTONVILLE, March 11.—The Camptonville union grammar school started the spring term Tuesday after the winter vacation. A good attendance was reported and the children were glad to be back at school after the long season of deep snow. The elementary school is in charge of Mrs. Grace Pauly and the primary with Mrs. Constance Pfiffer. Louie Marquardt and William A. Lang continue to operate the bus lines.

The local branch of the Marysville union high school was to start also on this date, but due to the death of Mrs. Martha C. Joubert, whose daughter, Miss Lesta H. Joubert is the teacher, the opening was postponed until March 15.

EMERGENCY BAND IS ORGANIZED TO KEEP PEACE

Steps were taken Wednesday night to organize a Nevada County Emergency Patrol composed of men between the ages of 25 and 45 to help peace officers preserve public peace and safety in the event of trouble from the attempts of the Committee for Industrial Organization Mine, Mill and Smelters Union to organize here.

The emergency patrol will be selected from the ranks of the committee of 5000 which was organized at a mass meeting last week to "see that the rights of the Nevada County Mine Workers Protective League are protected in the event of labor trouble.

The protective league, formed in 1919, is the only organization recognized for collective bargaining by mine operators in this district.

The executive committee of the committee of 5000 announced that approximately 400 will be enrolled in the emergency patrol and will be trained along military lines, with units and headquarters, both in Grass Valley and Nevada City.

The plans of the committee also call for an armored truck section, ambulance section, a communication section and possibly a mounted troop.

The following statement was made by the executive committee of which John Truscott is chairman:

The Nevada County Emergency Patrol will in no sense be a vigilante organization, though doubtless the charge will be made from time to time. We wish to reiterate that it will be quasi- official organization, just as is our volunteer fire department, except that the patrol will bear an even greater official character. Every member will have to qualify as, and be officially appointed and sworn in as a deputy sheriff.

None of the members of the patrol will be called upon or permitted to function as a peace officer except directly under the orders of the sheriff and only when the sheriff decides that a state of emergency exists which demands the services of others than his regular force of paid deputies.

When such an emergency exists, however, every member of the force will be clothed with all the power that the state of California confers upon its peace officers.

CARD PARTY TO RAISE FUNDS FOR LIBRARY SHELVES

The Nevada City Womans Civic Club held a regular meeting at the Brand Studio Monday night. Besides caring for routine business several new projects were considered.

Mrs. James Penrose was elected delegate and Mrs. Arthur Hoge, Jr., alternate, to the Northern District Convention to be held in Woodland on April 1, 2, and 3.

Mrs. A. M. Hoge gave a report of the library committee and described the improvements, including new shelves, which the club has undertake to install. The improvements are more extensive and more expensive than at first estimated and the club women have decided to hold an evening card party during the first week after Easter to meet this expense. The library committee consisting of Mrs. A. M. Hoge, Mrs. W. P. Sawyer and Mrs. Leland Smith will have charge of arrangements for the party. The entire club membership will assist and it is hoped that all interested in the library will help. Those wishing to donate prizes for the affair please phone Mrs. A. M. Hoge, Mrs. W. P. Sawyer or Mrs. Leland Smith.

A committee consisting of Mrs. H. E. Kjorlie, Mrs. R. E. Harris and Mrs. W. P. Lee was appointed to study what might be done for the youth of the community and to present its findings to the club. This committee hopes to confer and work with representatives of other local organizations.

Mrs. Arno Browning of French Corral visited her daughter and other relatives in Nevada City Wednesday.

ROTARY HEARS TALK ON MINES IN PHILIPPINES

Bill McCandlish of the Hercules Powder company was the speaker at yesterday's Rotary luncheon in the National Hotel. He has recently returned from a business trip to the Philippines and gave the club an interesting account of the gold mining operations there.

It was announced that the next meeting of the club will be a dinner meeting with the Grass Valley Rotarians at Bret Harte Inn, to which the ladies of both clubs are invited. A moving picture of the redwoods will be presented. This meeting will take place next Monday evening.

McCandlish stated that in 1936 the Philippines produced $22,000,000 in gold, ranking second with California in the gold output of the United States. He said that the Philippines were still regarded as a part of the United States, since the islands will be dependent on this country for nine more years. Balatoc and Benquet mines produce the major part of the Philippine gold, but during August, September and October of 1936 78 new mining companies were registered as against 212 mines previously recorded. All the mining except one property is in quartz, and the exception is a dredger operation which last year produced $300,000 in gold. There is some copper and iron mining, and the Japanese purchase the output of these mines. The best miners are the Igorotes and they generaly refuse to leave their highlands for the mines in the lowlands. The wage scale is from 50 cents to 75 cents per day, which enables mining companies to work low grade properties, but as a matter of fact the day's labor output is low compared to American standards.

Some of the Philippine miners are so short that in placing the high shots in the breast of the ore, one sits on the shoulders of another while he operates the jackhammer.

On the return trip McCandlish boarded a clipper airplane from Manila to Honolulu. He gave interesting figures regarding these great seaplanes. He found it monotonous since there was nothing except clouds and water. Owing to high head winds the cruising speed over a part of the distance was only 100 miles an hour, as against the normal speed of 140 miles an hour.

P. T. A. ENTERS FIGHT AGAINST SOCIAL DISEASE

Washington Grammar School P. T. A. met Friday afternoon and in accordance with the request of the National Bureau of Education and Bureau of Public Health Service the National P T. A. is joining with other welfare organizations in the nation wide campaign against the scourge of social disease. The Washington grammar school had at their meeting County School Health Supervisor Mrs. I. Hefelfinger, who gave a very interesting talk on diseases. This was followed by a discussion by teachers and parents present as to the best possible procedure to cooperate in this educational campaign.

Reprints have been ordered for distribution of the article combatting early syphilis by Dr. J. H. Stokes of the United States Public Health service in the March issue of the Readers Digest.

A committee was appointed by the President Mrs. E. T. Bonner to follow up this work and report at the next meeting March 19.

March 15 is the closing date for the P. T. A. membership contest. The children having the greatest number of parents and friends enrolled at the end of this period will be given a party which will be arranged by the class mother. The seventh grade is leading in having the largest number attending, but the third grade is a close second.

The Price of Eggs

And now comes a series of bills at Sacramento proposing to repeal the law of supply and demand! It is said on good authority that the law of gravity is still safe, although under the stack of 4000 bills there may be a measure seeking to take care of that little matter, also.

Brace yourself for this one, lest it bowl you over. It is this:

The bills in question propose to fix, by law, the prices of practically everything you eat. A state commission would command that the price of butter be so much, the price of milk or eggs so much, et cetera.

It would take about a week of intensive thinking to realize all the implications of this proposition. But just for a starter. visualize, if you will, a state official figuring out what eggs should cost tomorrow.

Let's see, now. There's supply, or how prolifically the hens are laying; there's demand, or how much use housewives are making of eggs these days; there's the weather as it affects shipments, the buying power of the dollar, the freight and storage rates and handling costs and . . . well, you'd need a column to list all the factors entering into the price of eggs.

A price fixer might benefit one group at the expense of another. He might benefit a monopoly at the expense of the little fellow. But there is no such thing as fixing prices by man-made law in such a way as to benefit the whole people. You can't repeal the law of supply and demand.

Any attempt to do so would be as upsetting. almost, as the confusion that would follow if someone actually did succeed in repealing the law of gravity. And that, one imagines, would be quite confusing indeed.

Look sharp, Mr. Legislator. There's no telling what may turn up next under that stack of 4000 bills. And we do want to keep the law of gravity.—Contributed.

S. P. TO EXHIBIT TWO NEW STREAMLINERS

Over a million dollars worth of ultra-modern rail luxury will be on public exhibition at Sacramento March 19, when residents of this region are invited to inspect one of the two new streamlined Southern Pacific "Daylights"

According to C E Spear, district freight and passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, the new streamliner will be open to public inspection between 9:30 a. m. and 6 p. m. The exhibition has been specially arranged on completion of extensive test runs and prior to inauguration of regular daily service in both directions between San Francisco and Los Angeles over the scenic coast route.

The new streamliners, which will operate on a schedule of nine hours and 45 minutes between the two cities, will cut one hour and 15 minutes from the fastest former time for the run. In addition, they will provide an entirely new concept of luxury, comfort and safety, it was stated.

Capital Business
Compiled by Sacramento Chamber of Commerce

SACRAMENTO, March 11. — Directors of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce voted endorsement of the Central Valley Project last week, reversing the stand taken by the 1933 board of directors which went on record as opposing the project.

Construction on the Friant camp probably will be started within six weeks. Walker R. Young, Central Valleys project engineer, said after opening bids for several projects on the southern unit. Bids are being sent to Washington for contract awards. Low bidders were Guy E. Hall of Los Angeles, who submitted a combination offer of $8,139 to construct an office building and $85,882 to construct two dormitories and Lawson Construction company of Los Angeles at $44,385 to build 28 cottages.

Western Pipe and Steel company of San Francisco was the low bidder for the proposed construction of a 100,000 gallon steel water tank at the dam. The bid was $3350. C. A. Tornell of Tracy submitted the lowest of four bids for the construction of a concrete testing laboratory, a garage and a fire station at the dam site Tornell's total bid was $17,195.

The state board of equalization revealed this week that a record income of $81,235,523.28 was obtained in 1936 from California's 3 per cent retail sales tax. The steady gain was seen by board members as positive proof of California's comparatively rapid climb toward a new economic security. The records show that Californias gross retail sales gained approximately $273,319,000 during the last half of 1936. This total gain represents an average increase of $45,553,000 a month in retail business subject to the tax during the entire last half period.

General business levels in California during 1936 were the highest since 1930 according to the monthly report of Arlin E. Stockburger, director of finance. Stockburger declared that available reports for the first two months of the new year indicate that business as a whole has entered 1937 well above the corresponding period of 1936, in spite of unsettled conditions in some of the major state and national industries.

Legislative members looked ahead optimistically this week and predicted that the deluge of nearly 4,000 bills introduced during the first session could be settled and the sessions closed by about May 15. The 1935 session ran until June 15. It is expected that the legislature will begin consideration of Governor Merriam's budget before the month ends. Assemblyman Gordon Garland of Tulare county charged that the governor has unnecessarily reduced the budget of the state fish and game commission, thus depriving California sportsmen advantages for which they pay when they purchase hunting and angling licenses. He announced that he will fight to bring about a return of the $1,300,000 cut.

Harold E. Pomeroy, state relief administrator ,announced that unless sharp limitations are placed upon the activities of his department the budget will be exhausted before June 30. He pointed out that the counties of California and the state have been carrying constantly increasing security, indigent and relief costs. Early action on revenue bond legislation in the legislature is being sought by both houses, possibly by the end of this week hearings will commence. The bills provide that cities, counties and the districts of the state may issue revenue bonds by a majority vote, for the purchase or installation of all types of utilities.

Revenues for the state's general fund during the fiscal year which will end June 30 continue to show marked improvement over last year. A report of State Director of Finance Arlin E. Stockburger revealed the total receipts to February first this year amounted to $73,760,522 in comparison with $60,156,741 last year, an increase of 22.6 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bush of Oakland spent the week end in Nevada City with Mr. Bush's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bush. Mr. Bush is with the state highway department and was transferred here from Roseville.

HERE'S WHY WE SAY :-:

Buy Now!

In 1920, during a period of inflation, Axminster Rugs sold for $55.95. In 1933 those same quality rugs sold for $19.95. Today the like quality sells for $29.95, which is regarded as normal.

That's an indication of how much prices can differ. It is evident that the pendulum of price levels is ewinging upward. Wise buyers will purchase home furnishings NOW, while prices are where they are. Shop at Breuner's this week.

A Jaunty Red Robin Opens the Door

Howling storms are memories. Snow choked roads are things good to forget. The first crocus has nudged a cheery head through sun-blessed soil. Already there is strong undercurrent of activity in local building and improvement, in channels of commerce and trading. There's a promising optimism in the increased tempo to the spinning wheels of business.

Last year the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad hauled ton after ton of building materials, merchandising stocks, commodities and luxuries, to be used in the making of a better Grass Valley and Nevada City.

1936 was a good year. 1937 portends to be better. As medium of transportation generally serving western Nevada County, your railroad, with its staff of progressive "home-town" citizenry, will do everything in its power to foster the prosperity, happiness and contentment which forms the threshold of life and living in the celebrated twin cities.

Two large cakes, one for the birthday and the other for the anniversary were the central features of the prettily decorated table. Spring blossoms were used in profusion in the decorations.

Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bolton, Miss Alberta Bolton, Eloise Phelan, Nevada City; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sinnock and son, Colfax; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Arthur Martin, Mr. and Mrs. George Cobeldick, Blanch, George, Jr., and Kenneth Cobeldick, Mrs. Arthur.

The proprietor Ted Janiss has spared no expense in making the new "My Place" as attractive and inviting as possible and it will be a bright spot in town; a place where you can take your wife, sister or girl friend. The genial Ted and his equal ly genial wife, Lorraine will act as host and hostess on Saturday night and a hearty welcome is assured all who attend the grand opening. CLIFF DEBERRY OPENS STORE IN NEVADA CITY

Announcing the opening of his large household appliance store today in Nevada City in the Daniels building, Cliff DeBerry attests his faith in the future of this community. The Nevada City DeBerry store, in fact is one of the largest, if not the largest of its kind in Nevada county. Mr. DeBerry will offer the buyer of household electric, gas and other equipment a very large selection in refrigerators, ironers, washing machines, space heaters, water heaters, and all kinds of cooking ranges.

George Crawford, well known in both Nevada City and Grass Valley, where Mr. DeBerry last year opened a similar store on Main street, will be in charge of the Nevada City store.

The Daniels building which Mr. DeBerry has taken over has been repainted inside and out. The ceiling of the big store oom has been repapered, modern lighting fixtures installed, and the walls have been specially treated to give the salesroom a most pleasing effect. A big neon sign will presently be hung over the entrance of the building.

Illustrating the volume of business which Mr. DeBerry's experience warrants, he is expecting within the next day or two a carload of Frigidaire refrigerators, which include eighteen different 1937 models, embodying in their appointments and conveniences the last word in household refrigeration.

Aside from the wide and complete range of the best household appliances on the market today, Mr. DeBerry does an extensive business in installing refrigeration for meat shops, restaurants, groceries, liquor establishments, dairies and florists. He has the agency for some of the most modern of these cold or cooling plants as well as for home and business air conditioning.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. George Brailey are rapidly clearing up the yard and grounds of the old Cohn property on Grove street, which they purchased several months ago. Trees have been grubbed out and brush cut away. The house will be remodeled and renovated. It has been re-shingled in the last few weeks.

Judge Walter L. Mobley returned yesterday afternoon from a several days trip to San Francisco. He went down to benefit his health and seemed to be much improved from a recent attack of rheumatism.
